And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

There were several smiling faces Thursday when the bids were opened for the construction of the new high school building. You could almost hear a sigh of relief from the members of the School Board when the low bid of Rose and Sons, Inc., was read.

Always associated with a bid opening of this size is the horror of the bids running higher than you have money to spend and the question of what to do then.

In fact the architects were considerably worried that the bids might run as high as $675,000 before the opening and at one time had considered delaying the opening until a more favorable time.

But as it turned out, there probably could not have been a better time since the low bid was some $9,000 lower than the amount set aside for the building.

This whole matter of a new building has been a long and tiring experience for the board of trustees and the school administration. They deserve a vote of thanks from the people of Hamlin for their time and energy that they have devoted to this cause.

Overheard in the drug store the other day: "The trouble with our lack of rain is that the Hamlin preachers must be misappropriating the rain funds."

We ran across the following editorial from the Oconomowoc (Wisc.) Enterprise that points up a simple but sound solution to this nation's poverty problems. With high schools graduating classes all over the country right now that are so ill prepared to go out into the world and make a living it seems that this editorial is worth repeating.

"One can't help but believe that THE basic and quickest route to permanently eliminate the cause of poverty of the underprivileged lies in teaching the young in the practical manner to equip them to earn a living — and start that teaching from mid-grade school through high school.

There are multiple scores of federal programs in or allied to the poverty program. There are so many they overlap. Some spend most of their money in administration. There are expensive government programs in other fields removed from vital need that can be delayed.

"Why, in the name of common sense, shouldn't government programs be concentrated on the program of greatest need (poverty) to make a permanent correction? That program is building, equipping and staffing elementary and high schools in the poverty areas to teach the young to earn a living. That reaches the root of the cause of poverty.

"Evolution takes time but teaching young is the quickest route to permanent correction. Nothing else holds such great promise. That should be recognized, yet we are spending vast sums on crash programs that correct nothing.

"Most certainly the needy middle aged and older should be taken care of for essential needs and aided to secure employment where possible. But, money should not be spent on unproductive programs which could be far more valuable if used to accomplish the permanent correction — the teaching of youth to earn a living.

"Consider the 'miracles' that could be accomplished in a few short years in those schools where vocational programs should predominate. A child entering the 7th grade could, in six years, graduate from high school equipped to earn a living. That is far better than what is being accomplished now by a mass of varied programs.

"It seems so simple. The theory is sound. Why shouldn't it be put to work in the name of humanity? Why shouldn't teaching the young to earn a living be the nations REAL crash program?"

POOL IS PAINTED — Painting of the Hamlin Foundation Swimming Pool was underway Wednesday in preparation for opening the facility. Dan Truelove, left, said Wednesday that the pool

The Ultimate in Satisfaction

When we were children, the ultimate in satisfaction was an ice cream cone, a nickel's worth of candy, a handful of homemade cookies. But now that we are grown-up, God's spirit has shown us there are more important things in life than satisfying our appetites. There is a higher plane of living—that of loving and serving God and one's neighbor. God wants us to respond to His love by showing this same kind of love to others. The church is the place to center your mature living. Attend church this Sunday.

"When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things." 1 Cor. 13:11.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
